Rancher seeks relief

BY ED LEPOMA

A property owner adjacent to Hancock County's Port Bienville Industrial Park is seeking $150,000 and other compensation, claiming infrastructure improvements at the port is causing his land to flood.

Records show that Dr. Hewitte Thian, who owns the sprawling Rocking T Ranch, filed suit July 16 in Hancock County Chancery Court against the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission seeking relief and damages. Thian is represented by attorney Michael D. Haas Jr.

In his suit, Thian pointed out that his family acquired the land in the 1880's, and in 1970, the county and the port took title to property lying immediately south and east of his ranch for development as an industrial park.

Thereafter, according to the suit, the P&H Commission began "to construct roads, rail lines, fill property serving as wetlands, and to dredge and remove fill material to establish a port at the...park."

According to the suit, those actions "caused and continue to cause drainage problems on the property owned by the plaintiff." Thian contends the and steadfastly" refused "to alleviate the excess flooding caused by its actions in blocking the natural drainage of the area." He claims the P&H has also been negligent in the upkeep and maintenance of the drainage that was installed.

HMC clinic planned to open at port

Hancock Medical Center officials have confirmed plans to locate a third network clinic at Hancock County's Port Bienville Industrial Park

Administrator Hal Leftwich said the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, has given the hospital a tract of land near the newly dedicated David N. McDonald Training Center, where the hospital plans to build a 3,000-squarefoot clinic.

Leftwich said the clinic could be in operation by the end of the year or in early 1999. He said it would offer park tenant and port employees on-site various services, such as X-rays, innoculations, and free screenings.

He said the clinic would probably be open five days a week, but would expand to six days, if the need demands.

The Bay-Waveland School Board took a parentadministrator compromise, in implementing authentic assessment or portfolio in the third grade this fall, a step further at Monday night's July 13 meeting.

Dr. Kim Stasny, assistant superintendent, explained the process agreed on by a parentadministrator committee created in June, by which stu-dents work in the third grade will be assessed under the Board's authentic assessment or portfolio program.

The program, in its purest form is an alternative to the traditional 'A, B, C' grading method. The method grew out of debates in the latter part of the 1980s and early 1990s where, nationally, educators were looking for a more realistic and instructionally appropriate way of measuring a child's performance particularly in pre-school and the lower grades.

The emphasis behind authentic assessment practices, according to Dr. Stasny, is to help the student understand not just what he or she is learning but how they are learning it. They are put in a risk-free environment and progress at their own rate of speed.

In June, parents voiced concern over the pure implementation of the method at a grade level that traditionally, until now, has had an 'A, B, C' grading system. Another concern was that parents were not given a choice about putting their children into the program.

A committee of parents and

administrators worked through the summer to fashion an instrument that would provide the parents with a scale indicating the child's progress and still be in keeping with the nongraded philosophy. The compromise created a progress report that indicates that a child has made excellent, satisfactory, or little or no progress. Also reported on the report will be learner characteristics.

"For me," Shelia Beaugez, a former Waveland Elementary School PTO resident and a member of the committee said, "For me to feel comfortable in knowing where my child is, I needed to see either a '1, 2, 3' or an 'A, B, C' on a report card. That way I know where my son is in regard to his actual progress. The progress report we have come up with is the best of both worlds. I get all of the teacher's evaluation that is true portfolio, as well as a scale based on his work papers and scores in class."

The important thing to note about the progress report, Stasny said, is that it will be used in all grades. "If we have had a shortcoming, it has been in being consistent in reporting to our parents from one year to the next. The instrument will be used in all grades each year.'

The board approved the following reporting schedule: September 17 - progress reports; week of October 26 - portfolio and parents conferences; December 17 - progress reports; week of February 8 - portfolio and parent conferencing; April 1 - progress report; Week of May 17 - portfolio and parent conferencing; May 25, parents will receive the final student profile and teacher narrative.

Laney Lee, a parent, asked the board to prepare a handbook or a written guide that would give parents an outline of what to expect and how the process works. Board members Bryon Griffith of Waveland and Barbara Boston of Bay St. Louis recounted their own personal experience with the subjectiveness of portfolio assessment and reinforced the parent's request for a grading scale to be based on objective class work.

The Board voted to have the superintendent's office make recommendations by Monday, August 10, on preparation of a handbook or guide for parents and how to implement an optional structure that would translate the teacher's assessment of a student's work into an 'A, B, C' grading system for those parents who might want to see grades.

"Our concern is not so much for the bright kid who makes good grades," said board mem-ber Richard Flowers, responding to a parent who said enough study in this area had not been done. "Our concern is for the average and below average students to make sure that they do not fall through the cracks,"

Flowers said. "What has worked in the past is not necessarily working now. Our students compete on a worldwide level. We have to do what is best for those students to be sure that we give them the most we can. The old ways — 'A, B, and C's' weren't working. We owe to our children to try something new."

The Board, in 1995, adopted the policy to implement portfolio assessment, over a threeyear period, in its K-3 programs at both North Bay and Waveland Elementary schools. Each year they have added a new grade to the program. This is not just something we have just come up with.

"School starts in less than 3 weeks for our teachers. We have too much invested in teacher training and in work in this program to just scrap it. This is not just something we have just come up with," said board president, Cleveland Williams responding to concerns that parents did not have a choice in enrollling their children in this type of program.

The board adopted the policy in 1995 to implement portfolio assessment, over a three-year period, in its K-3 programs at both North Bay and Waveland Elementary schools.

Carports — Council concerned

Council member James Rutherford said he's had several said council could take action on caus concerning carports recently, and wants to see Carrigee's position in writing. Rutherford said as understands it, some of the carports are set in concrete.

Thriffiley said most of them aren't: O D Meanwhile, council set aside a request for a 22-foot front yard setback variance request that would allow an existing carport to stay in its location at a Cedar Point residence. The structure was built without a building permit about a year ago, city officials say.

It's only eight feet from the front property line.

When the owner Charles Henderson appeared at the city Planning and Zoning Commission last week, he asked for a 14-foot variance, saying he would take down part of the structure. The commission, however, volunteered to increase the variance to 22 feet, allowing it to stand where it is.

Carrigee said in a memorandum to council member Carleen Moran on Tuesday that even if the city approves the variance, his office won't approve it until its brought into compliance with other code requirements. The building at present couldn't pass inspection, he said, because the spans of supporting the structure are too long, the building doesn't have hurricane clips or straps, and the roof rafters aren't properly supported.

regardless of the other problems that Henderson's building faces, because the issues are separate

"I have a big problem with it being eight feet from the street," Said Mpran.

Lampley said she's puzzled how a building could be constructed without a permit so close to the street, and remain there for a year without city enforcement action. "Where's the person who is supposed to know that?" she Scafide said it would be impossible for Carrigee to be aware of such a situation.

In other business, county library officials complained -- for the second year in a row -- that they aren't receiving as much money from property taxes as promised by the city.

Last year, revenues fell $23,000 short of what was expected by library officials. This year, the shortage was over $55,000 as of Monday

But Mayor Eddie Favre said a check was being prepared to make up $34,500 of that shortage, and the remainder should be in hand by the time the fiscal year ends. Favre said city schools have had the same problem with lagging revenues behind expectations. The city levies three mills in City attorney John Scafide taxes for the county library system, with a projection that newly appraised properties would generate a total city tax of $165,000 for the library.

> Revenues have been slower coming in this year, said Favre. because the reappraisal program prompted many taxpayer protests. Many property owners opted to pay late penalties and hang dillo their money until the last minute > before the tax sale next month. And Bay St. Louis' collections have been slowed by protests from several "major" property owners, the mayor added.

Favre suggested the library board use this year's collection figures as a guide for what to expect to receive next year. And he advised, "from a planning standpoint, don't ever expect to get it all ... Don't budget every penny of it."

In other matters, council:
--Was advised that the recent "Blast in the Bay" car show raised $1,300 for the Doll & Toy Fund, and $700 for the explorer Boy Scout troop. -- Agreed to wait until budget preparation time to consider changing several municipal employee policies.

-- Learned that construction costs at the Ulman Street pier continue to run over expectations.

Favre said some of the contractor's claims, however, are being contested by the engineering firm in charge of the project.

The registration date for students in the Bay-Waveland School District will be July, 28, 29 and 30, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with staff available Tuesday, July 28, 5 to 7 p.m.

Parents need to register their children at the school facility in their area. If they do not know the school their children should attend, they can call the Central Office at 467-6621.

A student entering Kindergarten must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 1998; and first graders must be 6 years old on or before that date.

Parents registering new students need to have the certificate of immunization from the Health Department or local physician, a copy of their birth certificate, and their Social Security number. A report card or other records of grade placement are necessary to make official grade level assignments.

Parents of new students must also have verified documentation of residency.

It seems there is more and more information needed each year to register children in a school system. This is really necessary for school districts to comply with all necessary regulations.

I am sure some youngsters are eager to get back into the classrooms, which is very good. On the other hand, there are those who have to receive some encouragement to get back to school.

If all youngsters only knew the importance of obtaining an education. It is something which will go forward with them throughout their lives.

Sure, persons learn throughout their lifetimes, but it is necessary to have the fundamentals of learning, which is achieved in elementary, high school, college,

All youths need to stay in school and learn everything they can. They are the ones who will really receive the benefits of a good education

This evening, Thursday, from 5 to 7 p.m. will be the July Business After Hours for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsors for the Business After Hours is Quest Re-Hab, 5427 Gex Road, Diamondhead.

One turns left at the first intersection of Diamondhead to reach Ger Road.

The After Hours are for chamber members and guests. Admission is two business cards

This morning at 8, the Diamondhead Business & Professional Association will hold its July meeting. Guest speaker is Terry L. Latham, executive director of Hope Haven.

Hope Haven is the only state-licensed shelter for children in Hancock County.

I am sure Latham will have a tremendous story to tell about Hope Haven's role in the lives of so many deserving children.

Young ladies between ages 7 and 12 years old interested in cheerleading in the North Hancock Pee Wee Football program, need to know that there will be registration on Saturdays, July 25, and August 15, 9 a.m. to noon; and Tuesday, August 11 and Thursday, August 13, 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Hancock North Central Elementary School football field.

The cost of registration is $35 per child. Those needing further information, can contact Chuck Seal, 255-1054, or Chris Whitfield, 798-7715.

The seawall in Hancock County, which has been under construction for the past year is completed, all steel having been put into place and concrete poured about a month ago and all the sand filled in behind the seawall except about 50,000 cu. it., which is now being pumped in and should be completed within three weeks. The new seawall is 8.70 miles in length, and this with the old wall gives a total of 10.42 miles of seawall in the county along the Bay and Sound front from Bay St. Louis northern limits to Lakeshore. The total seawall construction cost approximately $805,000, bonds of which have been sold by the county. A total of $34,176, was spent repairing the old seawall.—C.A. Breath, Sr., of Breath & Cue, agents for Johnson Motors, announces this week that two outboard motor races will be held at Bay St, Louis during August. The tentative date for the first race is August 5, prizes for which will be given by wholesale companies. The second race will be given August 19, and will be known as Weston races as all prizes for the races will be donated by Weston interests.

The management of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad have decided to run an extra train every Saturday and Monday, until further notice, for the accommodation of their Coast patrons. The train will leave New Orleans depot at 3:05 p.m. on Saturdays, with "Club on Wheels" and chair car attached, and stop at Lookout, Waveland, Nicholson Avenue, Bay St. Louis and all Coast towns and stations. Returning Monday morning, will arrive in New Orleans at 7:45 a.m. The regular train will run as usual, making all stops.

Last night a thief visited the editor's home and was fortunate enough to escape with his life when pursued. As we are going to press we have no space to go into details. Not only a warm but a hot reception is in readiness for his return.

THE EDITOR

Former road chief responds to dismissal

To the Editor:

In response to my dismissal as road superintendent at the June 29 board of supervisors meeting, I would like to issue the following statement:

My past two years as road manager in Hancock County have been both rewarding and challenging. Great strides were made to work closely with county employees resulting in increased productivity and improved public relations.

The challenging aspect of this position involve serving at the discretion of five individuals with very specific agendas.

I regret the misleading statements provided by two of the supervisors, and for this reason I could not resign in good conscience.

I have always received ongoing positive feedback from the supervisors, often pointing our their satisfaction with road and drainge projects, as well as grass cutting and cemetery maintenance. In addition I have consistently respected the policies and procedures related to this position.

Hancock County is in the midst of a tremendous growth period and I sincerely wish it continued success.

Respectfully, Dewey Bobinger Bay St. Louis

Reader says traffic signal needed at 90 and Drinkwater

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter because I have great concern for myself and my neighbors who have to venture onto Hwy. 90 from Drinkwater Ave. on a daily

The risk for a terrible accident is only increasing as our small town is rapidly growing. My neighbors and I would like to see the Traffic Commission recognize the need for a traffic light at the intersection of Hwy. 90 and Drinkwater Ave.

We are having a problem understanding why we cannot have a traffic light at this intersection at Hancock Medical Center, when in fact, the city of Pass Christian (Harrison County) has put up a new traffic light at an intersection for a grocery store.

If anyone can find a logical explanation for this I would greatly appreciate a response. However, until then my neighbors and I will continue to question this problem.

Sincerely, Carolyn Boudreaux Bay St. Louis

Humane Society of U.S. praises Taylor's stand

To the Editor:

The Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) applauds Representative Gene Taylor for his recent vote to save $10 million of taxpayers' hard-earned dollars and to protect wildlife in the West. Specifically, he supported the Bass-DeFazio amendment to an annual appropriations bill to cut the budget of a federal predator control program, known by the euphemistic name of Wildlife Services (WS), formerly called Animal Damage Control. Unfortunately, the House, after approving the Bass-DeFazio amendment, re-voted and reversed itself and rejected this sensible budget cut by a 192-232 vote. The reversal occurred after the powerful livestock industry attacked the House for cutting into its

While WS engages in some useful operations that prevent conflicts between people and wildlife, such as preventing bird strikes at airport, the its resources on killing wildlife for the benefit of a smaller number of wealthy ranchers.

In 1996, for instance, WS personnel killed more than 90,000 coyotes, black bears, mountain lions, bolicats and other mammalian predators." They killed these predators principally by using cruel and indiscriminate steel-jaw leghold traps, snares and poisons and by shooting them from

The program is as inefficient as it is cruel. WS spends $3 for every $1 of livestock damage. If WS simply reimbursed ranchers for their losses, they would save the taxpayer millions of dollars.
The HSUS is grateful for

Rep. Taylor's attempt to rein in this wasteful program. Sincerely,

Waveland should consider special pier rate for summer tenants

Dear Editor:

I recently spent two wonderful weeks in a rental house on. Beach Boulevard in Waveland. The weather and water were wonderful.

One evening after supper, my sister and I walked over to the Waveland fishing pier with my two granddaughters, ages 6 and

When we arrived at the pier, we were told by the attendant that there would be a charge of $1 per person to walk out on the pier. I only had brought $2 with me and asked if I could return later with the other $2. She said we could not enter without paying the full amount. I mentioned to her that we were in a rental house and asked if there was a special rate for summer tenants and was told that there was a $25 annual fee that would admit only immediate family members and that if my grandchildren's parents would also either have to pay $1 per person to use the pier or they, too, could purchase the $25 annual membership

I am writing this letter to call your attention to this fact and also suggest that the Town of Waveland might want to consider an alternative annual membership fee for their summer tenants

I would gladly pay $25 for the use of this beautiful pier for the two weeks that I would be renting the house on the beach in Waveland, provided that my children and grandchildren would be allowed to use the facility. Is there anything that can be done to make your summer guests feel more welcomed? Sincerely,

Bonnie McGuinness Metairie

McKay leads BSL recreation program

BY KELLY BLANCHARD Looking around the city of Bay St. Louis, you can see the departments of Parks and Recreation and Beautification have been hard at work.

Parks and Recreation Director Gus McKay has been going non-stop since he took over in mid May. He has been involved in sports programs in Bay St. Louis for 14 years.

Early in the morning he is checking conditions of the Athletic Complex fields, making staff adjustments to meet the needs of tournament play. At dusk he is confirming that McDonald Field is ready for girls fast pitch softball play.

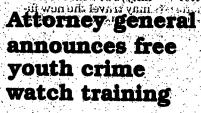

When he's not taking care of athletic fields he's supervising the refinishing of the city's tennis court at City Park and overseeing the painting of lockers at the gym or planning the installation of horseshoe courts at the historic Depot.

"Right now, all we are doing is cosmetic work," said McKay. "I'll get into the guts of the job come fall.".

City crews have been refencing ball fields, adding batting cages, fixing lights on the fields, and getting fields ready for tournaments. They have also been redoing the tennis courts at City Park, putting in a football field at Commagere Park, and work is being done behind the Bay St. Louis Police Department, turning one of the rooms into a meeting room for all the sports leagues to use.

"Ron Vanney and Jimmy Loiacano have been a big help in helping me coordinate and getting all this work done," said McKay. "And the summer youth work program gives us the extra help we need to get things done on time. If it takes 100 people to finish a job by a certain day, then I'll have 100 people working to get it done."

One of the first priorities at the conclusion of the busy season is to computerize all records and have cabinets

As part of his Initiative on Youth Violence and School Safety, Attorney General Mike Moore invites teams of high school students to register for a one-day training for the nationally acclaimed "Youth Crime

Watch of America" Program. This dynamic youth-led program, mobilizes youth, schools, law enforcement officials, businesses and community leaders to reduce violence, drugs, guns, gangs and other crime. Ten teams of six students and four adult sponsors will be trained each day. The first training will be Tuesday, July 28, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. at the Universities Center on Ridgewood Road in Jackson. The second group of teams will be trained the following day, July 29, at the same location. Registration forms are available at the Attorney General's internet web page, http://www.ago.state.ms.us, or by calling 601-359-3680. There is no charge for the training.

built for the league officials. he wants them to have an official home in the Valena C. Jones gym complex for meetings and secure records and equipment storage, McKay is cautious with any commitments until he gets all the facts. He has many ideas for the program, but won't commit to anything until he is certain as to what his budget will be for next year.

"I'm looking at for next year to go all grass on a couple of the fields at the Athletic Drive complex, with the possibility of going all grass for all the fields," McKay said. "As far as anything else, I'm going to wait and see what happens with the budget."

McKay is also going to be sending out flyers to get a consensus on what the community wants as far as other activities. He is hoping to add other things in the fall besides football and soccer. "I'm coming in at the end of the budget year, and am just now getting some breathing room to begin planning new and expanded activities for the fall and winter season. I'm excited by the potential and possibilities of new programs. Recreation and cultural affairs will be partnering on several planned projects to offer our citizens a more well-rounded program of activities for all age groups," McKay, said. "I'd like to be able to have something for everyone. I want to be able to show people that Bay St. Louis is definitely 'A Place Apart."

Angela Baldree

Angela Baldree named recipient of scholarship

Johnson Controls, Inc., announced Angela Baldree of Pearlington has been named a recipient of the 1998 Johnson Controls Foundation Scholarship.

One of 16 recipients, Baldree is among hundreds of children of Johnson Controls employees nationwide who applied for the prestigious scholarship.

Baldree received this award as a result of her strong academic performance and community service while in high school. She said her experience as a Red Cross volunteer and a senior citizen volunteer aide has helped her realize her desire to help others.

As a polymer science major next fall at the University of Southern Mississippi, Baldree said she hopes to recognize the role of science in the world. She is the daughter of James Baldree of Bay St. Louis.

Baldree will receive an $8,000 award, which will be paid over the four years she attends college.

Johnson Controls, Inc., with headquarters in Milwaukee, Wis., is a global market leader in automotive systems and building controls:

Fishing rodeo

Angie Richardson, daughter of Dave and Joy Richardson, represented the city of Bay St. Louis in the 1998 Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo Pageant. Angie was chosen first runner-up in the pageant.

Basketball camp scheduled at SSC

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The 11th annual Gulf Coast School of Basketball will open its doors from July 27-31 in the newly air-conditioned Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of St. Stanislaus High School.

Registration for the camp will begin one hour prior to the start of the camp on the opening day. The cost per camper is $50 and that price includes a camp t-shirt.

The camp directors include the cousin duo of Jay Ladner and Michael Ladner. The former Ladner is the current head coach at St. Stanislaus High School while the latter Ladner is the second year head coach at Hancock High School.

The camp will include guest appearances from two of basketball's coaching legends in J. Roland Ladner and J. Larry Ladner

Roland Ladner, Michael's father, is the winningest high school basketball coach in the history of the state of Mississippi. Larry Ladner, Jay's father, was the long time Picayune Maroon Tide coach who went on to become an instructor in the Department of Athletic Administration at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg. Larry has traveled the nation and the world to talk and instruct the game of basketball.

The camp is open to boys and girls in grades 3 through 12. The girls camp will take place from 1-4pm and the boys camp from 5:30-8:30pm.

Riles holds lead to win

Sun Coast

Michael Williams shared the front row at Sun Coast Speedway in Pass Christian with Billy Riles for the start of the 16-car field of Street Stocks.

Riles moved to the front of the pack as the green flag flew and was never threatened on his way to his first Sun Coast feature win of the season.

Rodney Barber, who has several wins to his credit, managed to move past Williams to claim the second position. Williams held off Steve Marsh, another multi-winner to finish third, while Danny Lee rounded out the top five in the feature. Bryan Crasby and Robert Hopkins both claimed earlier heat race wins.

Rodney Bruce and Chet Morrison won heat races before Bruce and Gary Joiner headed the Pro Stock feature lineup. Bruce edged out Joiner at the flag stand on the green flag lap to take over the lead on his way to a convincing win.

Joiner did manage to hold off Mike Ladner and Owen Kosbab to finish in the second position. Mitchell Williams finished fifth.

Nick Sellier claimed the early lead in the IMCA feature while his younger brother, Kalif, moved into the second spot in what could have been a one two Sellier outing, but it was not to be.

Kalif picked up the lead. Chuckie Smith moved in behind Selier as the two waged a two-car battle for the lead. Ron Tubbs, who moved into the Tubbs Marine-sponsored race car in the absence of veteran Donald Parker, made an im-

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1998-11

Client of the Year selected by SCORE

Captain Frank Schatzle was recently recognized as Client of the Year for 1998 by Mississippi Gulf Coast SCORE Chapter 130 at their June training session. A certificate of recognition was presented to Schatzle by Char-les C. Lynch, his SCORE counselor for the past year. He was very complimentary about the assistance provided by his counselor and commended SCORE members for their dedication to the Small Business Community.

Soon after retirement from been looking at the develop-the Navy as Deputy Commander of the Naval Oceanography Command at Stennis Space Center, he founded Gulf Weather Corporation in 1983. He has continued as president and owner of the company since that time. The company is lo-cated at Stennis Space Center, and during the past 15 years has primarily been involved in research and development of operational services for the Army, Navy and NASA.

In recent years Schatzle has ment of commercial applications for the company's primary areas of expertise in remote sensing from satellites, oceanography, meteorology, digital data processing, computer science, and data base management system maintenance and development. Work completed

The company is presently considering application for their technology in telemedicine. This technology would allow smaller hospitals with limited expertise and equipment to connect to hospitals through the internet where these resources are available for diagnostic assistance and assisfuel and allowing more time for tance in surgical procedures.

Analysis & Technology promotes Zeile to v.p.

Analysis & Technology Inc., a leading developer of engineering technologies and technology-based training solutions, announced it has prom-oted Fred C. Zeile III to vice president. Zeile began work with Analysis & Technology in 1993 after a distinguished career with the U.S. Navy. Based in Bay St. Louis, he is responsible for meteorology, oceanography and coastal systems services for the company and manages staff in Panama City Beach, Fla. and Monterey, Calif. as well as Bay

St. Louis.

While with the Navy, Zeile commanded Oceanographic Unit Four aboard the USNS Chauvenet, which conducted ocean surveys in Indonesia. He also commanded the U.S. Naval Oceanography Facility Keflavik, Iceland during Operations Desert Shield and Desert

He holds a BS in oceanography from the U.S. Naval Academy, an MS in meteorology and oceanography from the Naval Postgraduate School, and an MA from the Naval War College in national security and strategic studies.

Zeile is a member of Sigma Xi, the scientific research society, the American Meteorological Society, and the Marine Technology Society. Gary P. Bennett, chairman and CEO of Analysis & Technology said, "Fred commands great respect for his technical expertise, and has proved himself a talented manager, as well. He's played a critical role in developing our high-end engineering services business with the Navv.

Working with customers, Analysis & Technology creates technology-based solutions through engineering and information technologies. Its subsidiary, Interactive Media Corp., creates technology- and Webbased training using leadingedge multimedia technologies.

Fire department opens training, exercise room

Physical agility is mandatory for any firefighter. The equipment the fighter wears and has to handle to effectively do his job is heavy. The ground that has to be covered in a fire can be torturous. Being physically fit can save a firefighter's life. Just ask any firefighter in Florida this summer about the importance of physical stamina.

In the Bay St. Louis Fire Department physical exercise is performed every day, especially by the newest firefighters preparing to go to the Fire Academy.

Several months ago a physical agility screening was con-ducted to give the firefighters an opportunity to assess for themselves their physical condition. All management and shift personnel were required to participate in the screening.

Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie brought in a special advisor to the department to discuss diet, exercise, proper equipment handling to reduce on the job injuries, reduce stress, and help the firefighters have a healthier lifestyle.

Not a group to be dependent on others, the firefighters determined that they wanted an onsite exercise room. They accepted donated equipment, pooled their funds, and purchased larger machines.

As their equipment grew machine to include a weight bench and other equipment, they appropriated the Doll and Toy Fund storage room and made themselves an in-house exercise room.

Other department employees are welcome. The exercise room is now open and used by the firefighters and a few police officers on a regular basis.

"I'm really proud of how our staff put this all together. They are taking care of themselves and our citizens by staying in good physical condition to do their job," said Chief Gavagnie.

Mississippi Wildlife Federation announces 12th Big Buck Contest

The Mississippi Wildlife Federation, host of the annual Mississippi Wildlife Extravaganza, will be accepting applications for their 12th annual Big Buck

The competition, the largest of its kind in Mississippi, is held in conjunction with the extravaganza slated for Aug. 7-9 at the Mississippi Trade Mart,

This year's competition will be sponsored by Skoal

The Mississippi Wildlife Federation is the state's largest non-profit conservation education organization dedicated to spreading an awareness about responsible use and management of our state's wildlife, fisheries and natural resources.

Each year the competition attracts about 100 entries from across the state and has featured some record-book trophies in the past. Lonnie Bailey, president of MWF, said, "This contest is a great way to see some of the products of good deer management programs on public and private lands around Mississippi."

Anyone who took a white-tailed deer within state borders during the 1997-98 hunting season is eligible to enter the Ribbons and plaques will be awarded in gun, archery and muzzleloader categories in men's, women's and youth (16 and under) divisions. Deer will be judged in both typical and non-typical classes.

Scoring will be based on the Boone and Crockett scoring system. Each mount will be scored by biologists from the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks for the purpose of the contest only. Cash prizes of $200 will be awarded for the Best of Show typical and non-typical entries.

Entries must be brought to the Trade Mart between 3-9 p.m. Friday, Aug. 7, or between a.m.-noon on Saturday, Aug.

Mounts will be on display all weekend and may be picked up between 3:30-5 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 9. Winners will be recognized on stage at 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The entry fee is $15 and includes a three-day pass to the show. Each entrant will also receive a certificate for entering the competition.

For pre-registration forms and information, contact the Mississippi Wildlife Federation at 353-6922 or write MWF, c/o Big Buck Contest, P.O. Box 1814, Jackson, MS 39215-1814.

munition Plant at the Stennis Space Center, and materials that would be shipped to Panama.

Operations Officer Chad Brown told the Echo that he had been persuaded by Port and Harbor officials and United's co-owner Alan Bishop to try out the Stennis facilities.

"We could have used Keesler (Air Force Base) or Gulfport, but this facility is in our own back yard," said Brown.

"We're happy to show them what we can offer," said Bishop. "We want to encourage more military use of Stennis.

Brown said the Charlie Unit of the Navy SEALS was being deployed to Panama for six months, along with various equipment and material. The cargo plane left Friday morning on the seven-hour flight, and returned with some troops on Saturday. Although the men and equipment were bussed into the airport using Hwy. 603, Bishop pointed out to Brown that a shorter route was available.

He said the military and equipment could come in using Hwy. 607, which goes through Stennis, then turning east onto Texas Flat Road, which straddles the airport.

An added incentive, Bishop said, is that United just got certified and can call U.S. Customs out to the airport to facilitate in-spections of international cargo and personnel.

Stennis will also be designated a Foreign Trade Zone in November, meaning equipment and materials flown into the airport from foreign countries can remain there untaxed while awaiting transfer.

No hearing date has been set on the Chancery Court suit, and Bill Stovall, Deputy P&H Director, said that agency had not yet, been served, but at Monday's meeting County Attorney Ger ald Gex informed supervisors about the suit and a copy of the suit was placed in the record.

Tent — County not considering

Asked how they could help, Peterson said supervisors should ask the county's legislative delegation to lobby in the next session to raise payment the county gets for housing state prisoners. He said Parchman is paid $30 daily for housing state prisoners, while the state reimburses counties only $20 a day. That savings doesn't encourage the state to transfer more prisoners to Parchman, the sheriff said. In efforts to relieve the overcrowding, Peterson said he'll look at releasing those being held on misdemeanor charges. back out on the streets.

In other law enforcement news, Shane Corr, director of Hancock County's Narcotics. Task Force, brought a check for $5,000 to supervisors. The Task Force was started with seed money of $5,000 put up by the county and the two cities and Corr said the agency has now become self sufficient from cash and other items seized in recent raids, so it wanted to return the money to each entity.

Later in the meeting, Peter son's Chief Administrator, Gerald Necaise, got permission from supervisors to use $4,026 to pay the U.S. Marshal's office so that agency can turn over to

Fatality is ruled accident

Police are calling the death Sunday of a Bay St. Louis man accidental.

They reported that 46-year-old David Hugh Hill, who was working under his car at his trailer park home off U.S.Hwy. 90, was killed when the car slipped off a jack and crushed him around 6:30 p.m.

He died of massive upper body injuries, and police said no autopsy was necessary.

Blast — Successful event

"There was always a crowd around this car, not only admiring the restoration of the car, but reminiscing about their own days spent cruising in a Mustang," said Mike Cuevas, event coordinator.

Southern Who's Choice was Bay St. Louis native Sam Perniciaro Jr.'s 1934 Ford pickup.

Six other awards for outstanding cars were presented to Roland Coward of Gulfport, 1946 Lincoln; Glen Heisser of Lacombe, 1952 Chevrolet pickup; Randy Wilson of Summit, 1933 Plymouth Coupe; Randy Jackson of Bay St. Louis, 1970 Chevrolet Chevelle: Jimmy Watts of Slidell, 1956 Dodge Custom Royal Lancer, Dwight Whitney of Long Beach, 1923 Ford T. Roadster; and Terry Esponge of Buras, 1967 Dodge,

The Old Town Merchants Association provided the prizes for the "Poker Walk." First place winner was a Full House hand held by Mary Whitney, whose husband Dwight's 1923 Fort T Roadster was an award winner. Other winners included Richie Zitzmann, Judy Bull, Joe Feliciana and V. Thibodaux. Winners received gifts or gift certificates from the merchants.

Glen Gilmore of Slidell won the money guess and a great classic gauge replica of an early Texaco Tanker car. Billy Delons of Summit won the candy guess and the jar of candy.

thority that her agency must share in the pro-rated cost of providing a new bus for seniors and those in the county's mental health programs. The program's share of the cost would amount to $6,400, said Mederos

Earlier, Coast Transit's Ted Hearn came before supervisors and told them it must replace the wheelchair accessible bus now used for transportation. He said the present 16-passenger bus was purchased for $45,461, and has been in use for four years and three months and has logged over 260,000 miles.

Hearn said, under a 80/20 federal matching grant, a new heavier-duty bus would cost $80,000, but he expects it will last beyond the seven years estimated and may even last 10 years. The county's share of the cost would amount to $16,000, less the $4,600 being put up by the Seniors Citizens program. In other news that might impact next year's budget: •Wade Smith of Kiln, who has voluntarily worked for years to reorganize the county's 4-H youth organization, said he wants to be considered for a fulltime job next October since the state has promised funding for a full-time county Extension Service agent and some funding for a youth agent.

Attorney John Scafide, who Commission, wants his monthly retainer increased from $200 to $1,000 a month, and would eliminate charging by the hour.

The Planning Commission sent supervisors a letter from Scafide, outlining his offer. Scafide said he bills the county $80 an hour for legal advise, and from June of last year to June of this year, his fees are averaging $1,088 per month.

 Supervisors directed Jeff Loftus with the Gulf Regional Planning Commission to go ahead and file a grant application so the county might hire a full-time environmental enforcement officer. Up to $17,000 is available from the state Department of Environmental Quality, but the county might have to come up with additional funding. Supervisors also welcomed aboard Penny Dean of Pearlington as the Board's third fulltime secretary. Since the new board took office in January of 1997, meetings have gotten longer and are being held more often, and the Board's two longtime secretaries said they needed more help and got it. County Comptroller Patty Greer has scheduled an Aug. 10 workshop with supervisors to discuss next year's budget, which must be in place by Oct.
